Do's & Don'ts

✓ Do

→ Use Deep Navy as the primary background for all cover pages and headers

→ Pair Steel Blue accent with Deep Navy for depth and hierarchy

→ Maintain adequate whitespace — the brand breathes with space

→ Use Palatino Linotype exclusively for display and headline text

→ Keep the mark proportions exact — center pillar taller at all times

→ Scale the mark down to the mark-only version at small sizes (under 60px)

→ Use the horizontal lockup in confined horizontal spaces like nav bars

✗ Don't

✗ Never stretch, skew, rotate, or distort the mark in any direction

✗ Never place the primary dark lockup on any background other than Deep Navy or black

✗ Never use colours outside the four-colour brand palette

✗ Never use fonts other than Palatino Linotype (headlines) and Arial (body)

✗ Never add drop shadows, gradients, or decorative effects to the mark

✗ Never use the mark at sizes below 16px — use a favicon-safe version instead

✗ Never crowd the mark — maintain clear space equal to the pillar width on all sides
